A Letter from Newton Mayor Setti D. Warren

Dear Resident:

Newton is a remarkable city. I was fortunate to have grown up here and now to be serving as your Mayor.

Newton offers a wealth of services to its residents: excellent public safety provided by our police, fire and health departments, exceptional public education, a variety of recreational facilities and programs for all ages, an outstanding library and many services for seniors.

Newton is a big city and navigating its workings can be a challenge. I believe that residents should be able to make service requests and inquiries without mastering the bureaucracy. That's why I have recently introduced the 311 system. With one phone call to 311, residents can make a service request and be assured that it will be received, tracked and addressed. The 311 system is also available on-line via the city's website and through mobile phone apps. I am committed to improving our customer service by responding to residents needs in a timely and efficient manner. Implementation of the 311 system is a large step in that direction.

Newton also benefits from an abundance of civic organizations that enrich our community life with a wide range of services including art and cultural opportunities, mental health programs, environmental advocacy and recreation.

This guide serves as a directory to all of those resources. It provides information on all City Hall services as well as descriptive listings of Newton's many non-profit organizations.

I would like to extend my thanks to Newton Community Pride and the many sponsors who advertised in this guide. Their work and support have made the publication and distribution of this valuable resource possible.

Please take some time to peruse these pages, learn about our city – its many services and organizations. Find a place to visit. Find an answer to a question. Find a volunteer opportunity. Find new ways to participate in our community life!

Sincerely,

Setti D. Warren, Mayor

Bats: If a bat is found in a house and no person or pet has been scratched or bitten, if possible, confine it to a room, shut off the lights and open a window to let it out, or catch it and release it outside. If a person or pet has or may have been bitten/scratched, the bat should be caught and tested for rabies. Report this to Animal Control.

Coyotes: Coyotes are now established in Newton and the state does not allow their removal. Keep cats and small dogs inside or under supervision.

Dead Animal Notification: Notify the Department of Public Works of the location of the animal. Because Public Works employees are not allowed to go onto private property, homeowners must put the animal at curbside, preferably in a bag or box, and await pick-up. This service applies only to wild or stray animals, not to pets.

"Pooper-Scooper" Law: Owners/keepers of dogs must remove any feces left by their dogs on any sidewalk gutter, street, park, public area, or another person's private property.

Lost and Found Pets: Lost and found pets should be reported to Animal Control. Animal Control Officers maintain a lost/found list in addition to providing advice to worried pet owners.

Pets Interacting with Wild Animals: If a wild animal bites a pet, the animal should be caught if possible and tested for rabies. Report the incident to Animal Control.

Sick and Injured Wildlife: Report sick or injured wildlife to animal control

Reminder: Daytime activity of normally nocturnal animals does not mean the animal is rabid. If it behaves as though it has a purpose (feeding, drinking, or walking through a yard or down a street) there is no reason to suspect rabies. In spring and early summer, mother raccoons stay with their young at night and are active during the day.

However: If the animal is circling, falling down, lying in one place without protective cover, foaming at the mouth, or behaving in another unusual way, report it immediately.

Vaccinations: Per state law, all cats, dogs, and ferrets must be vaccinated for rabies.

From Potential to Achievement

The 150 distinguished faculty members at Mount Ida College are achievers and experts in their fields of study, sharing a commitment to help students make the most of their potential.

Mount Ida faculty members are passionate about their respective disciplines and quick to share their knowledge with students. Faculty like:

Dr. Daniel Young, an expert in small animal medicine; Suzanne C. St. Germain, Ed.D., a leading educator in brain-based teaching and learning strategies regarding multiple learning styles; Laura Reed, professor of equine management and the 9th-World Champion in the Open Hunter Pleasure Championship; and Tamotsu Thomas Yamamoto, M.F.A., a member of the American Society of Architectural Illustrators whose work has been featured at the Art Institute of Chicago and the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The result is nothing short of amazing: college-wide, 88% of Mount Ida graduates work in a field related to their major within one year of earning a degree, and 93% have positions that require a bachelor degree.

"One measure of the quality of our graduates is that many are offered their first employment upon graduation by one or more of their senior internship sites."

Jackson Homestead and Museum Hours:
Tuesday-Friday 11am-5 pm
Saturday & Sunday 12pm-5 pm
Research hours by appointment

Historic Newton fosters a meaningful community experience by preserving and learning from Newton's past through an extensive mix of educational programs, exhibitions, and publications. The Jackson Homestead, Collections, Archives, Durant-Kenrick House and Grounds, and preservation of Newton's historic burying grounds are all part of Historic Newton.

JACKSON HOMESTEAD AND MUSEUM 1809

A documented site on the Underground Railroad and one of the first locations named to the National Park Service's Underground Network to Freedom, this Federal-style home is the headquarters of Historic Newton. Changing exhibitions in our galleries explore a wide range of topics related to the history of Newton and New England. The Jackson Homestead and Museum houses an extensive collection of documents, photographs, paintings, costumes and objects that are available to the public and to researchers.

DURANT KENRICK HOUSE AND GROUNDS 1732

Built in 1732, the house is one of only a few pre-Revolutionary houses remaining in Newton. Located at 286 Waverley Avenue, it has been maintained in near-original condition, furnished with period furniture, and surrounded by specimen trees that were planted by William Kenrick, one of the country's first horticulturists. Acquisition of the Durant-Kenrick Homestead by Historic Newton will create an opportunity to preserve existing open space and provide a setting for a museum that interprets 18th-century Newton through public tours, educational programs, and public programs for families and adults. The Durant-Kenrick House and Grounds will be open to the public when restoration of the home and grounds is complete.

HISTORIC BURYING GROUNDS PRESERVATION

Historic Newton is an advocate for the preservation of Newton's three City-owned historic burying grounds: the East Parish Burying Ground (1660), West Parish Burying Ground (1781), and South Burying Ground (1802). Notable are the graves of many individuals who participated in the Revolutionary War. The burying grounds also contain some of the finest examples of early American gravestone art carved by some of our nation's most accomplished gravestone artists. Restoration of the gravestones is complete. The Museum is now working on the tombs and interpretative signage.

NEWTON HISTORICAL SOCIETY, INC.

The nonprofit arm of Historic Newton, the Newton Historical Society, Inc. works with the city of Newton as a public-private partnership to support the programs of Historic Newton.

Historic Newton offers a variety of engaging programs and events to all residents of Newton and greater Boston, including:
